 - a. If yes the problem is not with the calipers
 - b. If no there is a issue with the calipers
2. If you disconnect the brake line from the back of the actuator and go thru bench bleeding steps do you get a fluid spray on the forward stroke and suction on your finger on the return stroke?
 - a. If you do get both pressure and suction the actuator is working properly
 - b. If you do not the problem is with in the master cylinder.
3. If the answer to both above questions is "A" then the problem will be within the brake line.
